Dear Ms. Kendrick,

I am in receipt of your May 5 letter. In it you again requested information that I had already conveyed in my letter of March 16--namely, details concerning conversations I had with Lance Young. Given that letter, you have the means and the person with whom to verify to the fullest extent my allegations of Dreamworks' theft of my intellectual property involving a "panda bear doing martial arts."

It is quite apparent to me that your May 5 letter is designed to stall and inveigle additional information from me to be fashioned into an alibi with which Dreamworks Animations can conceal and deny the theft of my intellectual property, and so fabricate a defense and an advantage in future litigation. I shall not provide any such additional information.

Sincerely,

Terence Dunn
